

This user agreement will be effective for all users as of October 22, 2020.

Welcome to PayPal!

This user agreement is a contract between you and PayPal Payments Private Limited ("PayPal"), a company under the laws of India, governing your use of your PayPal account and the PayPal services. If you are an individual, you must be a resident of India and at least 18 years old to open a PayPal account and use the PayPal Services. If you are a business, the business must be organized in, operating in, or a resident of, India to open a PayPal account and use the PayPal Services. By opening and using a PayPal account, you agree to comply with all terms and conditions in this user agreement, including that you are the beneficial owner of the PayPal account, and conduct business only on behalf of yourself.

You also agree to comply with the following additional policies and each of the other agreements on the Legal Agreements page that apply to you:

- Acceptable Use Policy
- Alternative Payment Methods

Please read carefully all of the terms and conditions of this user agreement, the terms of these policies and each of the other agreements that apply to you.

We may amend this user agreement and any of the policies listed above from time to time. The revised version will be effective at the time we post it, unless otherwise noted. If our changes reduce your rights or increase your responsibilities, we will post a notice on the Policy Updates page of our website and provide notice to you of at least 14 days. If you do not agree to the revised terms and conditions, you must stop using the PayPal services, close your account, and terminate your relationship with us without cost or penalty. This user agreement will continue to apply to your previous use of our services.

About our main business

PayPal is a payment services provider in India. Our services allow you to send payments to anyone with a PayPal account,

Not all PayPal services may be available to you and PayPal may at its discretion withdraw any service to you without notice. PayPal offers the following services in India:

- Export Payment Services which allows you to receive payments from buyers for the export of goods and services outside India.
- Domestic Payment Services, which allows you to receive or make payments for goods or service within India.

PayPal acts as an intermediary for receipt of funds from buyers by sellers and does not act as a repository or custodian with respect to such funds. For Export Payment Services, PayPal is only responsible for depositing the export proceeds with the authorised dealer bank. For Domestic Payment Services, PayPal is only responsible for depositing the payments with your designated bank.

In this user agreement, "Paypal Service" means the payment gateway processing services offered by PayPal to its users who are resident in India to facilitate receipt of payments from a buyer (either domestic or foreign) for credit into their bank accounts.

Opening an Account

We offer two types of accounts: personal accounts and business accounts.
All PayPal accounts let you do things like:

- Buy things online or using mobile devices.
- Make payments using your credit card or debit card.
- Accept credit card, debit card, bank account or other payment methods from others.

You are responsible for maintaining adequate security and control of any and all IDs, passwords, personal identification numbers, or any other codes that you use to access your PayPal account and the PayPal services. You must keep your mailing address, email address and other contact information current in your PayPal account profile.

Personal accounts

If you primarily need to make purchases, a personal account is probably right for you. With a personal account you can buy goods and services from sellers.

You can also use a personal account to receive money for the sale of goods and services, but if you plan to use your PayPal account primarily to sell things, you should consider a business account. You can convert your PayPal account from a personal account to a business account should circumstances change.

Business accounts

We recommend business accounts for people and organizations that primarily use PayPal to sell goods or services or accept donations, even if your business is not incorporated. With a business account, you can do things like:

- Use a company or business name as the name on your PayPal account.
- Allow employees access to some of the features of your PayPal account.
- Sign up for PayPal products that meet your business needs.

Business accounts may be subject to different fees than those applicable to personal accounts.

By opening up a business account or converting a personal account to a business account you certify to us that you are using it primarily for a business or commercial purpose. You also consent to PayPal obtaining your personal and/or business credit report from a credit reporting agency, in accordance with and subject to applicable law, at account opening or conversion and whenever we reasonably believe there may be an increased level of risk associated with your business account. To receive payments, you must link a bank account to your PayPal account and provide other information as may be required to verify and authenticate your bank account and activate the PayPal Service.

Commercial Entity Agreement

If the activity through your PayPal account reaches certain thresholds or involves certain business segments or activities, you are required by the card networks to agree to a Commercial Entity Agreement to allow you to continue accepting Visa, MasterCard and Rupay payments. In this case, these Commercial Entity Agreements will apply to any payment processed by PayPal on your behalf and will form part of this user agreement.

Closing Your PayPal Account

You may close your account and terminate your relationship with us at any time without cost, but you will remain liable for all obligations related to your PayPal account even after the PayPal account is closed. When you close your PayPal account, we will cancel any scheduled or incomplete transactions.

In certain cases, you may not close your PayPal account, including:

- To evade an investigation.
- If you have a pending transaction or an open dispute or claim.
- If your PayPal account has a negative balance.
- If your PayPal account is subject to a hold, limitation or reserve.

Any funds we are holding for you at the time of closure of your PayPal account, less any fees, will be paid to you at our discretion by direct deposit to your linked bank account.

Link or Unlink a Payment Method

If you have a personal account, you can link or unlink a credit card, debit card to your PayPal account as a payment method. Business accounts can link a bank account. Please keep your payment method information current (i.e. credit card number and expiration date). If this information changes, we may update it using information and third-party sources available to us without any action on your part. If you do not want us to update your card information, you may remove your payment method from your PayPal account. If we update your payment method, we will keep any preference setting attached to such payment method.

Managing Your Funds in Multiple Currencies

How we convert currency

If PayPal converts currency, it will be completed at the transaction exchange rate we set for the relevant currency exchange. The transaction exchange rate is adjusted regularly and includes a currency conversion fee applied and retained by us on a base exchange rate to form the rate applicable to your conversion. The base exchange rate is based on rates within the wholesale currency markets on the conversion day or the prior Business Day; or, if required by law or regulation, set at the relevant government reference rate(s). For some uses of your PayPal accounts, PayPal may determine currency conversion is necessary. The currency conversion fee applicable can be found on our Fees page under the heading Currency conversion fees.

Currency conversion choices

When your payment is funded by a credit card or debit card and PayPal determines a currency conversion is necessary, you consent to and authorise PayPal to convert the currency in place of your debit or credit card issuer. You may have the right to have your card issuer perform the currency conversion, if applicable for that card issuer and network. Currency preference selections may be presented to you in various forms, including a choice of which currency is used for the transaction, whether PayPal or your card issuer performs the conversion, or which conversion rate is used for the transaction, among others, and may be made available individually for each card and for each automatic payment agreement. If your card issuer converts the currency, your card issuer will determine the currency conversion rate and what fees they may charge. PayPal will always perform the conversion for transactions where your linked bank account is the payment method.

Account Statements

You have the right to receive an account statement showing your PayPal account activity. You may view your PayPal account statement by logging into your PayPal account.

Buying Something From, or Returning Something to, a Seller Who Accepts PayPal

How to buy something

You can buy something from a seller who accepts PayPal, in any currency that the seller accepts and that PayPal supports, using any payment method linked to your PayPal account. This includes, for example:

- Buying something at an online retailer's website and selecting PayPal as your payment method at checkout.
- Sending money to a seller for goods or services.
- Using your PayPal account to buy something at a seller's physical store.

If the seller you are buying from sells goods or services and that seller does not already have a PayPal account, they can claim your payment by opening a PayPal account. If they don't open a PayPal account within 30 days, your purchase will be refunded.

In order to manage risk, PayPal may limit the payment methods available for a transaction when you buy something. In addition, payment methods may be limited for certain sellers or if you make a PayPal payment through certain third-party websites or applications.

When you authorise a payment to a seller who accepts PayPal, some sellers may take up to 30 days to complete the transaction. In these instances, your payment may appear as a pending order in your PayPal account. In that case, your authorisation of the payment will remain valid until the seller completes the transaction (but no longer than 30 days). If you used a debit or credit card as the payment method, your debit or credit card issuer also may show a pending authorisation for a period of time until they release the hold or receive a completed transaction. If your payment requires a currency conversion by us, the transaction exchange rate will be determined and applied as described in the How we convert currency section and may be the rate at the time the payment is processed.

Fees

When you buy something from a seller who accepts PayPal, you don't pay a fee to PayPal. If PayPal performs a currency conversion for your purchase, PayPal's transaction exchange rate (including our currency conversion fee) will be used. Your credit or debit card issuer may also charge you separate fees.

Payment review

When PayPal identifies a potentially high-risk transaction, we review the transaction more closely before allowing it to proceed. When this happens, PayPal will place a hold on the transaction and notify the seller to delay shipping of the item. As a buyer, this may delay your receipt of the item you purchased. If we clear the transaction, we will notify the seller and direct them to ship the item. If we don't clear the transaction, we will cancel it and return the funds to you, unless we are legally required to take other action.

Automatic payments

You can agree with a seller who accepts PayPal to use PayPal as the payment method for future purchases with that seller. This agreement is between you and the seller and allows the seller to take funds from your PayPal account with your authorisation on a one-time, regular or sporadic basis. Examples of automatic payments that can be arranged by you either with a seller or with PayPal include those that PayPal calls a "billing agreement," "subscription," "recurring payment," "reference transaction," "preauthorised debit or PAD", "preauthorised transfer" or "preapproved payment." You agree that the use of automatic payments is subject to Reserve Bank of India regulations.

To enable automatic payments, you will be required to take additional steps depending on the nature of the transaction and nature of seller. The automatic payments might not available for all sellers. PayPal reserves the right to suspend or terminate automatic payments for certain sellers or buyers.

You may cancel an automatic payment by contacting us through the PayPal Help Centre or in your account settings. Once an automatic payment is canceled, all future automatic payments under your agreement with that seller will be stopped. If you cancel an automatic payment, you may still owe the seller money for the purchase or have additional obligations to the seller for any goods or services that you receive but have not paid for.

If you have authorised an automatic payment and PayPal performs currency conversion for an automatic payment transaction, PayPal will use the transaction exchange rate (including PayPal's currency conversion fee) in effect at the time the automatic payment transaction is processed.

Refunds

When you buy something from a seller online using PayPal and the transaction is ultimately refunded, the money will typically be refunded to the original payment method you used for the transaction if you used a credit card or debit card. If you used a bank account as the payment method for the transaction, we will refund the money to your bank account, or to your PayPal balance if we cannot refund it to your bank account. For purchases you make in a seller's store location that you paid for using your PayPal account and the transaction is ultimately refunded, the money will be refunded to your PayPal balance.

If PayPal performed a currency conversion for your transaction and a refund is issued:

- Within 1 day of the date of the original payment, PayPal's transaction exchange rate (including our currency conversion fee) used at the time of the original payment will apply.
- Beyond 1 day of the date of the original payment, PayPal's transaction exchange rate (including our currency conversion fee) on the date of the refund will apply.

You will be refunded in Indian Rupees if we are unable to refund in the currency you paid originally.

Payment Method Used for My Transaction

Selecting a preferred payment method

You can choose any of the payment methods in your PayPal account as your preferred payment method. You can select a preferred payment method in your account preferences on paypal.in or in the PayPal app. There may be times when your preferred payment method cannot be used, for example, if you select a credit card that is expired.

You can set separate preferred payment methods for online transactions, and automatic payments with a seller.

If you have chosen a preferred payment method, it will be shown as the primary method of payment. If you have not chosen a preferred payment method, it's still your choice.

The availability of certain payment methods may be limited based on that particular seller or the third-party website you are using to complete the transaction.

If you have not selected a preferred payment method, or your preferred payment method is unavailable, we will show you available payment methods, including the payment method you used most often or most recently, at the time of transaction. You can also click on the "Manage" link to see all of your available payment methods, or add a new one, and select a payment method during the transaction.

Backup payment method

Certain one-time online transactions may require that a backup funding method be used in the event that your selected or preferred payment method is unavailable. In those instances, the backup funding method may be displayed to you on your transaction review page, before you complete the transaction. Note that this only applies for one-time, online transactions, and not for in-store or automatic payments. If PayPal determines currency conversion is necessary for a transaction that also requires a backup payment method, you may not be able to separately choose whether PayPal or your card issuer performs the currency conversion on your backup payment method.

Automatic payments

Some sellers allow you to store PayPal as the way to pay when making purchases on their site, so you can check out faster. Often, this entails creating an agreement with the seller that permits them to request that we charge your PayPal account each time you make a purchase.

You can select a payment method for future purchases with a particular seller either at the time of creating the agreement or in your account settings on paypal.in. For example, you can instruct your monthly movie subscription service to always charge your credit card for the monthly cost.

You can cancel any agreement in your account settings.

PayPal's Buyer Protection Program

When you buy something from a seller who accepts PayPal, you may be eligible for a refund under PayPal's Buyer Protection program. When applicable, PayPal's Buyer Protection program entitles you to reimbursement for the full purchase price of the item plus the original shipping costs you paid, if any. PayPal determines, in its sole discretion, whether your claim qualifies for the Buyer Protection program. PayPal's original determination is considered final, but you may be able to file an appeal of the decision with PayPal if you have new or compelling information not available at the time of the original determination or you believe there was an error in the decision-making process. IMPORTANT: You may be required to return the item to the seller or other party we specify as part of the settlement of your claim. PayPal's Buyer Protection program does not entitle you to reimbursement for the return shipping costs that you may incur.

PayPal's Buyer Protection program may apply when you encounter these specific problems with a transaction*:

- You didn't receive your item from a seller (referred to as an "Item Not Received" claim), or
- You received an item, but the item isn't what you ordered (referred to as a "Significantly Not as Described" claim).

If you believe that a transaction made through your PayPal account was not authorised by you, this type of claim is different from the Buyer Protection program, and is described below under Liability for Unauthorised Transactions and Other Errors.

Item Not Received claims

Your claim will not qualify for a refund under PayPal's Buyer Protection program for an Item Not Received claim if:

- You collect the item in person, or arrange for it to be collected on your behalf, including if you use PayPal in a seller's store location, or
- The seller has provided proof of shipment or proof of delivery.

If the seller presents evidence that they delivered the goods to your address, PayPal may find in favor of the seller for an Item Not Received claim even if you claim you did not receive the goods.

Significantly Not As Described claims

An item may be considered Significantly Not as Described if:

- The item is materially different from the seller's description of it.
- You received a completely different item.
- The condition of the item was misrepresented. For example, the item was described as "new" but the item was used.
- The item was advertised as authentic but is not authentic (i.e. it is counterfeit).
- The item is missing major parts or features and those facts were not disclosed in the description of the item when you bought it.
- You purchased a certain number of items but didn't receive them all.
- The item was damaged during shipment.
- The item is unusable in its received state and was not disclosed as such.

An item may not be considered Significantly Not as Described if:

- The defect in the item was correctly described by the seller in its description of the item.
 - The item was properly described but you didn't want it after you received it.
 - The item was properly described but did not meet your expectations.
 - The item has minor scratches and was described as "used."

Ineligible items and transactions under PayPal's Buyer Protection program

Payments for the following are not eligible for reimbursement under PayPal Buyer Protection:

- Real estate, including residential property.
- Financial products or investments of any kind.
- Businesses (when you buy or invest in a business).
- Vehicles, including, but not limited to, motor vehicles, motorcycles, recreational vehicles, aircraft and boats.
- Significantly Not as Described claims for wholly or partly custom-made items or items picked up in person.
- Donations including payments on crowdfunding platforms.
- Items prohibited by the PayPal Acceptable Use Policy.
- For Item Not Received claims, items which you collect in person or arrange to be collected on your behalf, including items bought in a seller's store location.
- Industrial machinery used in manufacturing.
- Anything purchased from, or an amount paid to, a government agency.
- Stored value items such as gift cards and pre-paid cards.
- Gambling, gaming and/or any other activity with an entry fee and a prize.
- Personal Payments.
- Payments sent using PayPal to any bill payment service.
- Payments made using PayPal Payouts and Mass Pay or guest checkout transactions (i.e. not sent using your PayPal account).
- Items intended for resale, including single item transactions or transactions that include multiple items

Transaction eligibility for PayPal's Buyer Protection program

To be eligible for PayPal Buyer Protection you must meet all of the following requirements:

- You have a PayPal account in good standing.
- You pay for the eligible item from your PayPal account.
- You respond to PayPal's request for documentation and other information within the time requested.
- Attempt to contact the seller to resolve your issue directly before filing a dispute through the Resolution Center.
- You open a dispute in the Resolution Centre within 180 days of the date you sent the payment, then follow our online dispute resolution process.
- You have not received a recovery or agreed to an alternative resolution related to such purchase from another source.

Our online dispute resolution process

If you're unable to resolve a transaction related issue directly with a seller, you must follow our online dispute resolution process through the Resolution Centre to pursue a claim under our Buyer Protection program. You may also file a claim (Step 2 below) by calling us and speaking to an agent. The steps you must follow are described below, and if you do not follow these steps your claim may be denied:

Step 1: Open a dispute within 180 days of the date you made the payment. This might allow you to start a direct conversation with the seller regarding your issue with the transaction that may help resolve the dispute. If you are unable to resolve the dispute directly with the seller, proceed to Step 2. We will place a hold on all funds related to the transaction in the seller's PayPal account until the dispute is resolved or closed.

Step 2: Escalate the dispute to a claim for reimbursement within 20 days after opening the dispute, if you and the seller are unable to come to an agreement, or we will automatically close the dispute. You can escalate the dispute to a claim for reimbursement through the Resolution Centre. The seller or PayPal may also escalate the dispute to a claim at this point. PayPal may ask you to wait at least 7 days from the transaction date to escalate the dispute.

Step 3: Respond to PayPal's requests for documentation or other information, after you, the seller or PayPal escalates your dispute to a claim for reimbursement. PayPal may require you to provide receipts, third-party evaluations, police reports or other documents that PayPal specifies. You must respond to these requests in a timely manner as requested in our correspondence with you.

Step 4: Comply with PayPal's shipping requests in a timely manner, if you're filing a Significantly Not as Described claim. PayPal may require you, at your expense, to ship the item back to the seller, to PayPal or to a third-party (which will be specified by PayPal) and to provide proof of delivery. PayPal will not arrange for or require a return of merchandise if you fail to respond to the case for a Significantly Not as Described Claim. You may be required to accept the item back by paying for return shipping cost for a Significantly Not as Described claim at PayPal's discretion.

Proof of delivery means:

- For transactions that total less than INR 17500 (or the foreign currency threshold in the table below), confirmation that can be viewed online and includes the delivery address showing at least city/state or postal code, delivery date, and the identity of the shipping company you used.
- For transactions that total INR 17500 (or the foreign currency threshold in the table below) or more, you must provide signature confirmation of delivery. If the transaction is in a currency not listed in the table, then signature confirmation is required when the payment exceeds the equivalent of $750 USD at the PayPal exchange rate that applies at the time the transaction is processed.

Signature confirmation thresholds
Currency	Transaction value	Currency	Transaction value
Australian Dollar:	850 AUD	New Zealand Dollar:	950 NZD
Brazilian Real:	1,750 BRL	Norwegian Krone:	4,600 NOK
Canadian Dollar:	850 CAD	Philippine Peso:	34,000 PHP
Czech Koruna:	15,000 CZK	Polish Zlotych:	2,300 PLN
Danish Krone:	4,100 DKK	Russian Ruble:	48,000 RUB
Euro:	550 EUR	Singapore Dollar:	950 SGD
Hong Kong Dollar:	6,000 HKD	Swedish Krona:	4,950 SEK
Hungarian Forint:	170,000 HUF	Swiss Franc:	700 CHF
Israeli Shekel:	2,700 ILS	Taiwan New Dollar:	23,000 TWD
Japanese Yen:	77,000 JPY	Thai Baht:	24,500 THB
Malaysian Ringgit:	3,100 MYR	U.K. Pounds Sterling:	450 GBP
Mexican Peso:	10,000 MXN	U.S. Dollar:	750 USD

Step 5: PayPal will make a final decision (including automatically closing any dispute or claim), in its sole discretion, based on the coverage and eligibility requirements set forth above, any additional information provided during the online dispute resolution process or any other information PayPal deems relevant and appropriate under the circumstances.

Note that when you are making Digital Goods Micropayments Purchases, there are special rules that apply and that include pre-determined thresholds where we may, at our discretion, reverse the transaction without requiring you to take further action. We may limit the number of automatic reversals that you benefit from, but, even if that is the case, you will still be able to follow PayPal's standard dispute resolution processes described above.

Dispute with us or your card issuer

If you used a credit card, or debit card as the payment method for a transaction through your PayPal account and you are dissatisfied with the transaction, you may be entitled to dispute the transaction with your card issuer. Applicable card chargeback rights may be broader than those available to you under PayPal's Buyer Protection program. For example, if you dispute a transaction with your card issuer, you may be able to recover amounts you paid for unsatisfactory items even if they don't qualify for protection under a Significantly Not as Described claim with us.

You must choose whether to pursue a dispute with PayPal under our Buyer Protection program, or to pursue the dispute with your card issuer. You can't do both at the same time or seek a double recovery. If you pursue a dispute/claim with us and you also pursue a dispute for the same transaction with your card issuer, we'll close your dispute/claim with us. This won't affect the dispute process with your card issuer. In addition, if you pursue a dispute with your card issuer, you cannot pursue a dispute/claim with us later. If you choose to dispute a transaction with PayPal and we decide against you, you can seek to pursue the dispute with your card issuer later. If PayPal does not make a final decision on your claim until after your card issuer's deadline for filing a dispute, and because of our delay you recover less than the full amount you would have been entitled to recover from the card issuer, we will reimburse you for the remainder of your loss (minus any amount you have already recovered from the seller or your card issuer). Before contacting your card issuer or filing a dispute with PayPal, you should contact the seller to attempt to resolve your issue in accordance with the seller's return policy.

Selling and Accepting Payments

Accepting Payments From Buyers for Goods and Services

No surcharges

You agree that you will not impose a surcharge or any other fee for accepting PayPal as a payment method. You may charge a handling fee in connection with the sale of goods or services as long as the handling fee does not operate as a surcharge and is not higher than the handling fee you charge for non-PayPal transactions.

Presentation of PayPal

You must treat PayPal payment methods or marks at least on par with any other payment methods offered at your points of sale, wherever PayPal's branded services are integrated, including your websites or mobile applications. This includes at least equal or better: logo placement, position within any point of sale, and treatment in terms of payment flow, terms, conditions, restrictions, and fees, in each case as compared to other marks and payment methods at your points of sale. Further, you must not present any payment method or mark upstream (or at an earlier point in the checkout experience) from the presentment of any of PayPal's services or marks.

In representations to your customers or in public communications, you must not mischaracterize any PayPal service as a payment method or exhibit a preference for other payment methods over any PayPal service. Within all of your points of sale, you agree not to try to dissuade or inhibit your customers from using PayPal or encourage the customer to use an alternate payment method. If you enable your customers to pay you with PayPal, whenever you display or exhibit the payment methods that you accept (either within any point of sale or in your marketing materials, advertising and other customer communications) you agree to display the PayPal services payment marks at least as prominently, and in at least as positive a manner, as you do for all other payment methods.

Taxes and information reporting

Some of our fees may be subject to applicable taxes, levies, duties or similar governmental assessments, including, for example, goods and services tax, sales, use or withholding taxes, assessable by any jurisdiction (collectively, "taxes") and, unless expressly noted, our fees are exclusive of applicable taxes. It is your responsibility to determine what, if any, taxes apply to the payments you make or receive, and it is solely your responsibility to assess, collect, report and remit the correct taxes to the appropriate authority. PayPal is not responsible for determining whether any taxes apply to your transaction, or for calculating, collecting, reporting or remitting taxes arising from any transaction.

Your refund policy and privacy policy

You must publish a refunds and return policy, as well as a privacy policy, where required by law.

Payment review

PayPal reviews certain potentially high-risk transactions. If PayPal determines, in its sole discretion, that a transaction is high-risk, we place a hold on the payment and provide notice to you to delay shipping of the item. PayPal will conduct a review and either complete or cancel the payment. If the payment is completed, PayPal will provide notice to you to ship the item. Otherwise, PayPal will cancel the payment and the funds will be returned to the buyer, unless we are legally required to take other action. All payments that complete this payment review will be eligible for PayPal Seller Protection coverage if they meet the PayPal Seller Protection requirements. We will notify you by email and/or through your PayPal account.

Marketplace sellers

If you're a seller on a marketplace or through a third-party application where PayPal is offered, you must comply with any rules that apply to the marketplace's or the third-party application's buyer protection program for sales you make through that forum. Any such protections may require you to take certain actions and may impact how claims are processed.

Card not present transactions

Whenever a buyer uses a debit or credit card as the payment method for a transaction using their account to buy something from you as a seller, the transaction will be processed as a "card not present" transaction, even if the buyer is at your store location.

Accepting preauthorised payments

As a seller, you can accept payments from a buyer's account through preauthorised transfers either on a one-time, regular or sporadic basis. This type of transaction is sometimes called a "billing agreement," "subscription," "recurring payment," "reference transaction," "pre-approved payment " or "automatic payment."

If you receive preauthorised payments from buyers:
You must:	You must not:
Get each buyer's prior authorisation for the amount, frequency, and duration of any such payment.	Restart future payments without the buyer's written authorisation, if a buyer has stopped or canceled a preauthorised payment.
Provide a simple and easily accessible online cancellation procedure, if buyers sign up for preauthorised payments online.

Provide buyers the ability to stop any such payment up to 3 Business Days before the date scheduled for payment.
Notify the buyer at least 10 days in advance of the amount and date of each preauthorised payment if the preauthorised payment will vary from the preauthorised amount or (at the buyer's option) any payment that is in an amount that falls outside of the pre-determined range.

Transaction Fees for Online Payments

Standard transactions fees

Your PayPal transaction fees depend on:

- the country of the buyer's account or the currency of their card;
- whether you are a registered as a charity.

The fees you pay when selling goods or services, where the buyer pays using their PayPal account or other authorised wallet, can be found on the Merchant Services Fees table with the fees applicable to charitable organizations found on the Charitable Organizations Fees table. Please note that:

- We may adjust the fees applicable to future transactions that you process using PayPal. We will provide you at least 14 days' advance notice of any fee increase or the introduction of a new type of fee.
- If you refund (partially or fully) a transaction to a buyer or a donation to a donor, there are no fees to make the refund, but the fees you originally paid as the seller will not be returned to you.
- If you accept payments using a PayPal product (like PayPal Payments Pro, the fees applicable to those products will apply to your transactions.

Micropayments Fees

You may qualify to receive micropayments pricing for the sale of goods and services through your PayPal account, if your transactions typically average less than $10. In order to qualify, you must have a PayPal account that is in good standing (for example, no limitations or negative PayPal balance), you may not be processing payments using PayPal Payments Pro and you must submit an application and have it approved by us. If your PayPal account is approved to accept micropayments, then the fees found on the Micropayment Fees table will apply to all transactions for the sale of goods or services processed through your PayPal account, instead of Merchant Services Fees. If you have multiple PayPal accounts, you must route your micropayments transactions through the appropriate account. Once a transaction is processed, PayPal will not re-route the transaction through a different account.

PayPal Payouts and Mass Pay fees

PayPal's Payouts and Mass Pay services let you send multiple payments in one batch to send commissions, rebates, rewards, and general payments. In order to use these services, you must have:

- a PayPal business account in good standing and with no withdrawal limits; and
- applied for and received our permission to use these services.

We may remove your ability to use Payouts or Mass Pay at any time if there is a higher than acceptable level of risk associated with your use of those services.

The amount you will pay us for these services differs according to whether you use the Payouts service or Mass Pay services, how you send the payments, and the currency of the payment. These fees can be found in the PayPal Payouts and Mass Pay Fees table. You can send money through Payouts or Mass Pay even if your receiver does not have a PayPal account using their email address or mobile number. If the person to whom you are sending money does not have a PayPal account, they can claim it by opening one. If they don't claim it, it will be refunded to you in thirty (30) days. PayPal is not liable for amounts sent by you in error. PayPal shall have no responsibility to reverse any payout payment.

Refunds, Reversals and Chargebacks

General information

If you receive a payment for selling goods or services that is later refunded or invalidated for any reason, you are responsible for the full amount of the payment sent to you plus any fees (including any applicable Dispute fee). Whenever a transaction is refunded or otherwise reversed, PayPal will refund or reverse the transaction from your PayPal account in the same currency as the original transaction. If your PayPal balance for a particular currency is insufficient to cover the amount of a refund or reversal, PayPal will perform a currency conversion in order to refund or reverse the transaction. PayPal's transaction exchange rate (including our currency conversion fee) at the time the refund or reversal is processed will be used.

If you refund a payment for goods or services (partially or fully), there are no fees to make the refund, but the fees you originally paid as the seller will not be returned to you. The amount of the refunded payment will be deducted from your PayPal account.

Payments that are invalidated and reversed

Payments to you may be invalidated and reversed by PayPal if:

- You lose a PayPal Buyer Protection claim submitted to us by a buyer, including as a result of your failure to respond in a timely manner.
- Your buyer pursues a chargeback related to a card-funded transaction and the transaction is not eligible for PayPal Seller Protection. The card issuer, not PayPal, determines whether a buyer is successful when they pursue a chargeback related to a card-funded transaction.
- You do not fulfill the transaction as promised or you cannot provide proof of shipment or proof of delivery when required.
- Marketplace seller decides against you under its money back guarantee program (and you haven't opted out).
- Our investigation of a bank reversal made by a buyer or the buyer's bank finds that the transaction was fraudulent.
- PayPal sent the payment to you in error.
- The payment was unauthorised.
- You received the payment for activities that violated this user agreement or any other agreement between you and PayPal.

When you receive a payment, you are liable to PayPal for the full amount of the payment sent to you plus any fees if the payment is later invalidated or reversed for any reason. If the buyer paid in another currency, the full amount of that payment may be calculated in that currency, using the transaction exchange rate (including our currency conversion fee) that applies at the time the refund or reversal is processed. If your PayPal balance doesn't cover the payment amount due plus the fees, we may use any of the payment methods linked to your PayPal account to cover the amount due. If the payment methods linked to your PayPal account don't cover the amount due, this will result in a negative PayPal balance. A negative PayPal balance represents an amount that you owe to us, and, in this situation, you must immediately add funds to your PayPal balance to resolve it. If you don't, PayPal may:

- engage in collection efforts to recover the amount due from you;
- take any and all action as outlined under Amounts owed to PayPal; or
- place a limitation or take other action on your PayPal account as outlined under Restricted Activities and Holds.

Dispute Fee

PayPal will charge a Dispute Fee for facilitating the online dispute resolution process for transactions that are processed either through a buyer's PayPal account or through a PayPal guest checkout. The Dispute Fee applies when the buyer pursues a claim directly with PayPal, a chargeback with their card issuer, or a reversal with their bank. The Dispute Fee will be charged at either the Standard Dispute Fee rate or the High Volume Dispute Fee rate. The Dispute Fee will be charged in the currency which you selected for the original transaction listing. If the transaction was in a currency not listed in the Dispute Fee table the fee charged will be in your primary holding currency. The Dispute Fee will be deducted from your PayPal account in the month after the claim is decided.

The amount of the Dispute Fee will be determined at the time that the case for the dispute is created. The fee is based on the ratio of the total transaction amount of your claims compared to the total amount of your sales for the previous three calendar months. For example, for a dispute raised in September, your disputes ratio will be calculated by considering your total claims to sales ratio over June, July and August. Your total claims include all claims filed directly with and escalated to PayPal, except claims for Unauthorized Transactions; and all chargebacks from the buyer's card issuer or reversals from the buyer's bank.

If your disputes ratio is 1.5% or more and you had more than 100 sales transactions in the previous three full calendar months, you will be charged the High Volume Dispute Fee for each dispute. Otherwise, you will be charged the Standard Dispute Fee for each dispute.

You will not be charged a Standard Dispute Fee for disputes that are:

- Inquiries in PayPal's Resolution Center that are not escalated to a claim with PayPal.
- Resolved directly between you and the buyer and not escalated to a claim with PayPal.
- Filed by the buyer directly with PayPal as an Unauthorized Transaction.
- Eligible for PayPal's Seller Protection program.
- Claims with a transaction value that is less than twice the amount of a Standard Dispute Fee.
- Decided in your favor by PayPal or your issuer.

You will not be charged a High Volume Dispute Fee for disputes that are:

- Inquiries in PayPal's Resolution Center and not escalated to a claim with PayPal.
- Resolved directly between you and the buyer and not escalated to a claim with PayPal.
- Filed by the buyer directly with PayPal as an Unauthorized Transaction.

Sellers charged High Volume Dispute Fee. Dispute Fee may be required to provide a remediation plan which includes an explanation of the cause of the increased dispute rate, the actions taken to reduce disputes, and the timelines for those actions.

Disputes listed above may be excluded from being charged a Standard Dispute Fee or a High Volume Dispute Fee, but the claim itself may still be included in the overall calculation of your dispute ratio.

Impact of various Buyer Protection processes on sellers

You should read and understand PayPal's Buyer Protection program and if you sell goods and services to buyers with PayPal accounts in countries other than your own, you should also be familiar with the buyer protection available to buyers in each of those countries. Buyers' rights under these programs may impact you as a seller. You can find this information for PayPal's programs on the Legal Agreements page by selecting your buyer's location at the top of the page and referring to the applicable user agreement for that geography.

If you lose a claim under PayPal's Buyer Protection program in any country:

- You must forfeit the full purchase price of the item plus the original shipping cost (and in some cases you may not receive the item back).
- You will not receive a refund of the PayPal fees that you paid in connection with the sale.
- If the claim was that the item received was Significantly Not as Described, you may not receive the item back, or you may be required to accept the item back and pay for return shipping costs.
- If the claim was that the item received was "Significantly Not as Described" and related to an item you sold that is counterfeit, you will be required to provide a full refund to the buyer and you may not.

If you accept PayPal payments from buyers for goods or services you sell through eBay, then you need to read and understand the eBay Money Back Guarantee program. Unless you opt out by calling eBay, PayPal will treat eBay's decisions in favor of your buyers under that program as a basis for reversing a PayPal payment made to you. If your PayPal balance is insufficient to cover the amount, we may:

- Place a hold on your PayPal account until sufficient funds become available in your PayPal account to cover such claim; or
- Create a negative balance in your PayPal account.

PayPal's Seller Protection Program

What's eligible

If you sell something to a buyer and the transaction is later disputed or reversed under Reversals, Claims or Chargebacks, you may be eligible for reimbursement under PayPal's Seller Protection program. When it applies, PayPal's Seller Protection program entitles you to retain the full purchase amount for debit and credit card-funded transactions. There is no limit on the number of payments for which you can receive coverage. By accessing the transaction details page in your PayPal account you can determine whether or not your transaction is eligible for protection under this program. PayPal's Seller Protection program may apply when a buyer claims that:

- They did not authorize, or benefit from, funds sent from their PayPal account (referred to as an "Unauthorized Transaction" claim) and the Unauthorized Transaction occurs in an environment hosted by PayPal; or
- The buyer didn't receive the item from you (referred to as an "Item Not Received" claim) and files a chargeback with their issuer.

PayPal's Seller Protection program may also apply when a transaction is reversed because of a successful chargeback by a buyer or when a bank funded payment is reversed by the buyer's bank.

This section describes PayPal's Seller Protection program as it applies to you, but you should also be familiar with the Impact of various buyer protection processes on sellers.

Basic requirements

To be eligible for PayPal's Seller Protection, all of the following basic requirements must be met, as well as any applicable additional requirements.

- The primary address for your PayPal account must be in India.
 - The item must be a tangible item except for intangible goods meeting the Intangible Goods Additional Requirements.
 - For eligible tangible items, you must ship the item to the shipping address on the transaction details page in your PayPal account for the transaction or list the item for sale in a classified advertisement and complete the transaction in person. If you originally ship the item to the recipient's shipping address on the transaction details page but the item is later redirected to a different address, you will not be eligible for PayPal Seller Protection. We therefore recommend not using a shipping service that is arranged by the buyer, so that you will be able to provide valid proof of shipping and delivery.
 - You must respond to PayPal's requests for documentation and other information in a timely manner as requested in our email correspondence with you or in our correspondence with you through the Resolution Centre. If you do not respond to PayPal's request for documentation and other information in the time requested, you may not be eligible for Seller Protection.
 - If the sale involves pre-ordered or made-to-order goods, you must ship within the timeframe you specified in the listing. Otherwise, it is recommended that you ship all items within 7 days after receipt of payment.

Item Not Received additional requirements

To be eligible for PayPal's Seller Protection program for a buyer's Item Not Received claim, you must meet both the basic requirements listed above and the additional requirements listed below:

Where a buyer files a chargeback with the issuer for a card-funded transaction, the payment must be marked "eligible" for PayPal's Seller Protection on the Transaction Details page.

Intangible Goods additional requirements

For the sale of intangible goods and services to be eligible for Seller Protection, the sale must meet the basic requirements and the following additional requirements:

- Integration requirements:
 - Where you have integrated a PayPal checkout product, you must be using the current version of that product if you are accepting payments directly via a website or mobile optimized website; or
 - Ensure you are passing session information to PayPal at checkout if you are integrated with PayPal via a third-party or if you have a native app integration.
 - Other integration requirements may apply depending on your business model. We will let you know those requirements ahead of time, if needed.
- Paid standard transaction fees on the sale.
- Delivered the item and provide Proof of shipment or delivery for Intangible Goods.
- Provide signature confirmation when the full amount of the payment (including shipping and taxes) exceeds the amount listed in the signature confirmation threshold table (based on the currency of the payment). If the full amount of the payment (including shipping and taxes) is in a currency not listed in the table, then signature confirmation is required when the payment exceeds the equivalent of $750 USD at the PayPal exchange rate that applies at the time the transaction is processed.

Ineligible items and transactions

Your sale is not eligible for coverage under PayPal's Seller Protection program if:

- The buyer claims (either with us or their card issuer) that the item you sent isn't what was ordered (referred to as a "Significantly Not as Described" claim).
- It involves an item that PayPal determines, in its sole discretion, is a counterfeit item.
- It involves an item that you deliver in person, including in connection with a payment made in your store location.
- It involves sales that are not processed either through a buyer's PayPal account or a PayPal guest checkout transaction. For example, if the sale was made using the PayPal Payments Pro product, then it is not eligible for coverage.
- It involves items equivalent to cash including gift cards.
- It involves a donation.
- It relates to the purchase of a financial product or investment of any kind.
- It involves a payment made using PayPal Payouts and Mass Pay.
- The item is a vehicle, including, but not limited to a motor vehicle, motorcycle, recreational vehicle, aircraft or boat.
- Payments made in respect of gold (whether in physical form or in exchange-traded form).

Restricted Activities

In connection with your use of our websites, your PayPal account, the PayPal Services, or in the course of your interactions with PayPal, other PayPal customers, or third parties, you will not:

- Breach this user agreement, the PayPal Acceptable Use Policy, the Commercial Entity Agreements (if they apply to you), or any other agreement between you and PayPal.
- Violate any law, statute, ordinance, or regulation (for example, those governing financial services, consumer protections, unfair competition, anti-discrimination or false advertising).
- Infringe PayPal's or any third party's copyright, patent, trademark, trade secret or other intellectual property rights, or rights of publicity or privacy.
- Sell counterfeit goods.
- Act in a manner that is defamatory, trade libelous, threatening or harassing.
- Provide false, inaccurate or misleading information.
- Send or receive what we reasonably believe to be potentially fraudulent funds.
- Refuse to cooperate in an investigation or provide confirmation of your identity or any information you provide to us.
- Attempt to double dip during the course of a dispute by receiving or attempting to receive funds from both PayPal and the seller, bank or card issuer for the same transaction.
- Control an account that is linked to another account that has engaged in any of these restricted activities.
- Conduct your business or use the PayPal Services in a manner that results in or may result in
 - complaints;
 - requests by buyers (either filed with us or card issuers) to invalidate payments made to you; or;
 - fees, fines, penalties or other liability or losses to PayPal, other PayPal customers, third parties or you.
 - Use your PayPal account or the PayPal Services in a manner that PayPal, Visa, MasterCard, American Express, Discover or any other electronic funds transfer network reasonably believes to be an abuse of the card system or a violation of card association or network rules.
 - Allow your PayPal account to have a negative PayPal balance.

- Provide yourself a cash advance from your credit card (or help others to do so).
- Access the PayPal Services from a country that is not included on PayPal's permitted countries list;
- Take any action that imposes an unreasonable or disproportionately large load on our websites, software, systems (including any networks and servers used to provide any of the PayPal Services) operated by us or on our behalf or the PayPal Services; facilitate any viruses, trojan horses, malware, worms or other computer programming routines that attempts to or may damage, disrupt, corrupt, misuse, detrimentally interfere with, surreptitiously intercept or expropriate, or gain unauthorised access to any system, data, information or PayPal Services; use an anonymizing proxy; use any robot, spider, other automatic device, or manual process to monitor or copy our websites without our prior written permission; or use any device, software or routine to bypass our robot exclusion headers; or interfere or disrupt or attempt to interfere with or disrupt our websites, software, systems (including any networks and servers used to provide any of the PayPal Services) operated by us or on our behalf, any of the PayPal Services or other users' use of any of the PayPal Services.
- Take any action that may cause us to lose any of the services from our Internet service providers, payment processors, or other suppliers or service providers.
- Use the PayPal Services to test credit card behaviors.
- Circumvent any PayPal policy or determinations about your PayPal account such as temporary or indefinite suspensions or other account holds, limitations or restrictions, including, but not limited to, engaging in the following actions: attempting to open new or additional PayPal account(s) when an account has a negative PayPal balance or has been restricted, suspended or otherwise limited; opening new or additional PayPal accounts using information that is not your own (e.g. name, address, email address, etc.); or using someone else's PayPal account;
- Harass and/or threaten our employees, agents, or other users;
- Use the Export Payment Services for exporting a product or service having a value of more than USD 10,000 per transaction; or
- In case of the Export Payment Service, you use your balance held by the Authorised Dealer Bank for any purpose (including but not limited to payment for imports, transfer to another person, etc.) other than as specified in these terms and conditions.

Actions We May Take if You Engage in Any Restricted Activities

If we believe that you've engaged in any of these activities, we may take a number of actions to protect PayPal, its customers and others at any time in our sole discretion. The actions we may take include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Terminate this user agreement, limit your PayPal account, and/or close or suspend your PayPal account, immediately and without penalty to us;
- Refuse to provide the PayPal Services to you in the future;
- Limit your access to our websites, software, systems (including any networks and servers used to provide any of the PayPal Services) operated by us or on our behalf, your PayPal account or any of the PayPal Services, including limiting your ability to pay or send money with any of the payment methods linked to your PayPal account, restricting your ability to send money or make withdrawals;
- Hold your PayPal balance for up to 180 days if reasonably needed to protect against the risk of liability or if you have violated our Acceptable Use Policy;
- Suspend your eligibility for PayPal's Buyer Protection program and/or PayPal's Seller Protection program;
- Contact buyers who have purchased goods or services from you using PayPal, your bank or credit card issuer, other impacted third parties or law enforcement about your actions;
- Update inaccurate information you provided us;
- Take legal action against you;
- If you've violated our Acceptable Use Policy, then you're also responsible for damages to PayPal caused by your violation of this policy; or
- If you are a seller and you violate the Acceptable Use Policy, then in addition to being subject to the above actions you will be liable to PayPal for the amount of PayPal's damages caused by your violation of the Acceptable Use Policy. You acknowledge and agree that $2,500.00 USD (or other currency equivalent) per violation of the Acceptable Use Policy is presently a reasonable minimum estimate of PayPal's actual damages considering all currently existing circumstances, including the relationship of the sum to the range of harm to PayPal that reasonably could be anticipated because, due to the nature of the violations of the Acceptable Use Policy, actual damages would be impractical or extremely difficult to calculate. PayPal may deduct such damages directly from any existing PayPal balance in any PayPal account you control.

If we close your PayPal account or terminate your use of the PayPal Services for any reason, we'll provide you with notice of our actions and make any unrestricted funds held in your PayPal account available for withdrawal.

You are responsible for all reversals, chargebacks, claims, fees, fines, penalties and other liability incurred by PayPal, any PayPal customer, or a third-party caused by or arising out of your breach of this agreement, and/or your use of the PayPal Services.

You agree that PayPal is an intermediary and in addition to the Restricted Activities listed out above, you agree that you will not use the PayPal account or the PayPal Services to undertake any of the following actions or to display, upload, modify, publish, distribute, disseminate, transmit, update or share any information that:

- belongs to another person to which you do not have any right;

- is grossly harmful, harassing, blasphemous defamatory, obscene, pornographic, paedophilic, libellous, invasive of another's privacy, hateful, or racially, ethnically objectionable, disparaging, relating or encouraging money laundering or gambling, or otherwise unlawful in any manner whatever;
- harms minors in any way;
- Infringes any intellectual property in any manner;
- threatens the unity, integrity, defence, security or sovereignty of India, friendly relations with foreign states, or public order, or causes incitement to the commission of any cognizable offence, or prevents the investigation of any offence or insults any other nation.
- contains viruses, corrupted files, or any other similar software or programs that is designed to interrupt, destroy or that may limit the functionality of any computer source or that may damage or adversely affect the operation of another person's computer, its web-sites, any software or hardware, or telecommunications equipment;
- interferes with or disrupts the account, PayPal Services or any of PayPal's other websites, servers, or networks;
- impersonate any other person;
- falsify or delete any author attributions, legal or other proper notices or proprietary designations or labels of the origin or the source of software or other material or deceive or mislead the addressee about the origin of any messages or communicate any information which is grossly offensive or menacing; forge headers or manipulate identifiers or other data in order to disguise the origin of any content transmitted through any web-sites; and engage in any illegal activities or breach laws or regulations;

Holds, Limitations, and Reserves

What are holds, limitations and reserves?

Under certain circumstances, in order to protect PayPal and the security and integrity of the network of buyers and sellers that use the PayPal Services, PayPal may take account-level or transaction-level actions, subject to, and in accordance with, applicable law. Unless otherwise noted, if we take any of the actions described here, we'll provide you with notice of our actions, but we retain the sole discretion to take these actions. To request information in connection with an account limitation, hold or reserve, you should visit the Resolution Centre or follow the instructions in our email notice with respect to the limitation, hold or reserve.

Our decision about holds, limitations and reserves may be based on confidential criteria that are essential to our management of risk and the protection of PayPal, our customers and/or service providers. We may use proprietary fraud and risk modeling when assessing the risk associated with your PayPal account. In addition, we may be restricted by regulation or a governmental authority from disclosing certain information to you about such decisions. We have no obligation to disclose the details of our risk management or security procedures to you.

In order to facilitate PayPal's actions described above and allow us to assess the level of risk associated with your PayPal account, you agree to cooperate with PayPal's reasonable requests for financial statements and other documentation or information in a timely fashion.

Holds

A hold is an action that PayPal may take under certain circumstances either at the transaction level or the account level. When PayPal places a temporary hold on a payment, the money is not available to either the sender or the recipient. PayPal reviews many factors before placing a hold on a payment, including: account tenure, transaction activity, business type, past customer disputes, and overall customer satisfaction. Some common situations where PayPal will hold payments include:

- New sellers or sellers who have limited selling activity.
 - Payments for higher-risk categories like electronics or tickets.
 - Sellers who have performance issues, or a high rate of buyer dissatisfaction or disputes.

Holds based on PayPal's risk decisions

We may place a hold on payments sent to your PayPal account if, in our sole discretion, we believe that there may be a high level of risk associated with you, your PayPal account, or your transactions or that placing such a hold is necessary to comply with applicable law or any regulatory requirements. We make decisions about whether to place a payment hold based on a number of factors, including information available to us from both internal sources and third parties. When we place a hold on a payment, the funds will appear in your PayPal account with an indication that they are unavailable or pending. We'll notify you, either through your PayPal account or directly by phone or email, whenever we place a hold.

Risk-based holds generally remain in place for up to 21 days from the date the payment was received into your PayPal account. We may release the hold earlier under certain circumstances (for example, if you've uploaded shipment tracking information related to the transaction), but any earlier release is at our sole discretion. The hold may last longer than 21 days if the payment is challenged as a payment that should be invalidated and reversed based on a disputed transaction as discussed in the following paragraph below. In this case, we'll hold the payment in your PayPal account until the matter is resolved (but no longer than 180 days).

Holds related to Marketplace transactions

If you're a seller on a marketplace or through a third-party application where PayPal is offered, a hold may be placed on a payment sent to you at the instruction of the applicable marketplace or third-party. This is done once you have granted us permission to have your funds held and will be in accordance with your agreement with the third-party. These holds will appear in your PayPal account. If you have questions about why the applicable marketplace or third-party instructed PayPal to put these holds in place, you will need to contact the marketplace or third-party directly.

Holds based on disputed transactions

If a payment sent to you as a seller is challenged as a payment that should be invalidated and reversed, we may place a temporary hold on the funds in your PayPal account to cover the amount that could be reversed. Any of the situations described under Refunds, Reversals and Chargebacks are situations that could result in us placing a hold on a payment. If we determine the transaction should not be reversed, we'll lift the temporary hold. If we determine the transaction should be reversed, we'll remove the funds from your PayPal account.

Account Limitations

Limitations prevent you from completing certain actions with your PayPal account, such as withdrawing, sending or receiving money. These limitations are implemented to help protect PayPal, buyers and sellers when we notice restricted activities, an increased financial risk, or activity that appears to us as unusual or suspicious. Limitations also help us collect information necessary for keeping your PayPal account open.

There are several reasons why your PayPal account could be limited, including:

- If we suspect someone could be using your PayPal account without your knowledge, we'll limit it for your protection and look into the fraudulent activity.
- If your debit or credit card issuer alerts us that someone has used your card without your permission. Similarly, if your bank lets us know that there have been unauthorised transfers.
- In order to comply with applicable law.
- If we reasonably believe you have breached this agreement or violated the Acceptable Use Policy.
- Seller performance indicating your PayPal account is high risk. Examples include: indications of poor selling performance because you've received an unusually high number of claims and chargebacks selling an entirely new or high cost product, or if your typical sales volume increases rapidly.

You will need to resolve any issues with your account before a limitation can be removed. Normally, this is done after you provide us with the information we request. However, if we reasonably believe a risk still exists after you have provided us that information, we may take action to protect PayPal, our users, a third-party, or you from reversals, fees, fines, penalties, legal and/or regulatory risks and any other liability.

Reserves

We may place a reserve on your PayPal account if we believe there may be a high level of risk associated with you, your PayPal account, your business model, or your transactions. When we place a reserve on your PayPal account, it means that all or some portion of the money in your PayPal account is reserved as unavailable for withdrawal in order to protect against the risk of transactions made by you being reversed or invalidated or any other risk related to your PayPal account or use of the PayPal Services. We make decisions about whether to place a reserve based on a number of factors, including information available to us from both internal sources and from third parties. PayPal considers a list of non-exclusive factors and whether and how these factors have changed over time, including:

- How long you have been in business.
- Whether your industry has a higher likelihood of chargebacks.
- Your payment processing history with PayPal and other providers.
- Your business and/or personal credit history.
- Your delivery time frames.
- Whether you have higher than average number of returns, chargebacks, claims or disputes.

There are two types of reserves that may be placed on your PayPal account, and one or both may be applied at the same time:

- A Rolling reserve is a reserve where a percentage of each transaction you receive each day is held and then released later on a scheduled basis. For example, your reserve could be set at 10% and held for a 90-day rolling period – meaning 10% of the money you receive on day 1 is held and then released on day 91, 10% of the money you receive on day 2 is held until day 92, etc. Rolling reserves are the most common type of reserve.
- A Minimum reserve is a specific minimum amount of money that you're required to keep available in your PayPal balance at all times. The minimum reserve is either taken as an upfront amount deposited all at once or is established on a rolling basis from percentages of sales until the minimum reserve is achieved, much like a rolling reserve.

If we place a reserve on funds in your account, the funds will be shown as "pending and we'll notify you of the terms of the reserve.

If we change the terms of the reserve due to a change in our risk assessment, we'll notify you of the new terms.

In respect of the Export Payment Services, PayPal shall be entitled to deduct the Reserve Amount from the sale price of the goods or services (including any shipping fee, taxes, costs or other expenses) and deposit the same with the authorised dealer bank.

In case the offshore buyer notifies PayPal that you have failed to discharge your obligations under the terms of the sale contract between you and the offshore buyer, PayPal shall be entitled, in its sole and absolute discretion, to remit the charge back to the offshore buyer out of the Reserve Amount after verifying the offshore buyers' claim.

You shall be entitled to receive either the Reserve Amount or, if a charge back has been made as per this section, the balance thereof, after expiry of a period of 180 days of receipt of the export proceeds.

Court Orders, Regulatory Requirements or Other Legal Process

If we are notified of a court order or other legal process (including garnishment or any equivalent process) affecting you, or if we otherwise believe we are required to do so in order to comply with applicable law or regulatory requirements, we may be required to take certain actions, including holding payments to/from your PayPal account, placing a reserve or limitation on your PayPal account, or releasing your funds. We will decide, in our sole discretion, which action is required of us. Unless the court order, applicable law, regulatory requirement or other legal process requires otherwise, we will notify you of these actions. We do not have an obligation to contest or appeal any court order or legal process involving you or your PayPal account. When we implement a hold, reserve or limitation as a result of a court order, applicable law, regulatory requirement or other legal process, the hold, reserve or limitation may remain in place longer than 180 days.

Liability for Unauthorised Transactions

Protection from Unauthorised Transactions

To protect yourself from unauthorised activity in your PayPal account, you should regularly log into your PayPal account and review your PayPal account statement. PayPal will notify you of each transaction by sending an email to your primary email address on file. You should review these transaction notifications to ensure that each transaction was authorised and accurately completed.

PayPal will protect you from unauthorised activity in your PayPal account. When this protection applies, PayPal will cover you for the full amount of the unauthorised activity as long as you cooperate with us and follow the procedures described below.

What is an Unauthorised Transaction

An "Unauthorised Transaction" occurs when money is sent from your PayPal account that you did not authorise and that did not benefit you. For example, if someone steals your password, uses the password to access your PayPal account, and sends a payment from your PayPal account, an Unauthorised Transaction has occurred.

What is not considered an Unauthorised Transaction

The following are NOT considered Unauthorised Transactions:

- If you give someone access to your PayPal account (by giving them your login information) and they use your PayPal account without your knowledge or permission. You are responsible for transactions made in this situation.
 - Invalidation and reversal of a payment as a result of the actions described under Refunds, Reversals and Chargebacks.

Reporting an Unauthorised Transaction

If you believe your PayPal login information has been lost or stolen, please contact PayPal customer service immediately.

Tell us AT ONCE if you believe that an electronic fund transfer has been made without your permission using your login information or by other means. You could lose all the money in your PayPal account. If you tell us within 60 days after we provide you your PayPal account statement showing transfers you did not make, you will be eligible for 100% protection for Unauthorised Transactions. If a good reason (such as a long trip or a hospital stay) kept you from telling us before 60 days expires, we may extend the eligible time period.

Error Resolution

What is an Error

An "Error" means the following:

- When money is either incorrectly taken from your PayPal account or incorrectly placed into your PayPal account, or when a transaction is incorrectly recorded in your PayPal account.
- You send a payment and the incorrect amount is debited from your PayPal account.
- An incorrect amount is credited to your PayPal account.
- A transaction is missing from or not properly identified in your PayPal account statement.
- We make a computational or mathematical error related to your PayPal account.

What is not considered an Error

The following are NOT considered Errors:

- If you give someone access to your PayPal account (by giving them your login information) and they use your PayPal account without your knowledge or permission. You are responsible for transactions made in this situation.
- Invalidation and reversal of a payment as a result of the actions described under Refunds, Reversals and Chargebacks.
- Refunds, Reversals and Chargebacks.

In case of Errors or questions about your electronic transfers

Contact us at our Resolution Centre; or write to us at Legal Department, PayPal Payment Private Limited Plot C, IL&FS Financial Centre, 2B, 22, G Block BKC, Bandra East, Mumbai, Maharashtra 400051

Notify us as soon as you can, if you think your statement or receipt is wrong or if you need more information about a transfer listed on the statement or receipt. We must hear from you no later than 60 days after we sent the FIRST statement on which the problem or error appeared.

- Tell us your name and account number (if any).
- Describe the error or the transfer you are unsure about and explain as clearly as you can why you believe it is an error or why you need more information.
- Tell us the dollar amount of the suspected error.

If you tell us orally, we may require that you send us your complaint or question in writing within 10 Business Days. We will determine whether an error occurred within 10 Business Days after we hear from you and will correct any error promptly. If we need more time, however, we may take up to 45 days to investigate your complaint or question. If we decide to do this, we will credit your PayPal account within 10 Business Days for the amount you think is in error, so that you will have the use of the money during the time it takes us to complete our investigation. If we ask you to put your complaint or question in writing and we do not receive it within 10 Business Days, we may not credit your PayPal account.

For errors involving new PayPal accounts, point-of-sale transactions, or foreign-initiated transactions, we may take up to 90 days to investigate your complaint or question. For new PayPal accounts, we may take up to 20 Business Days to credit your PayPal account for the amount you think is in error.

We will tell you the results within 3 Business Days after completing our investigation. If we decide that there was no error, we will send you a written explanation. You may ask for copies of the documents that we used in our investigation.

Processing Errors

We will rectify any processing error that we discover. If the error results in:

- You receiving less than the correct amount to which you were entitled, then we will credit your PayPal account for the difference between what you should have received and what you actually received.
- You receiving more than the correct amount to which you were entitled, then we will debit your PayPal account for the difference between what you actually received and what you should have received.
- Our not completing a transaction on time or in the correct amount, then we will be responsible to you for your losses or damages directly caused by this failure, unless:
 - through no fault of ours, you did not have enough available funds to complete the transaction;
 - our system was not working properly, and you knew about the breakdown when you started the transaction; or
 - the error was due to extraordinary circumstances outside our control (such as fire, flood or loss of Internet connection), despite our reasonable precautions.

Processing errors are not:

- Delays that result from PayPal applying holds, limitations or reserves.
- Delays based on a payment review.
- Delays described under How to buy something related to the time it may take for a purchase transaction to be completed in some situations.
- Your errors in making a transaction (for example, mistyping an amount of money that you are sending).

Other Legal Terms

Communications Between You and Us

You agree that PayPal and its affiliates may contact you by email for marketing purposes. You may opt-out of receiving marketing communications when you open a PayPal account, by changing your account preferences on paypal.in or by clicking on the unsubscribe link in any PayPal email or receipt you receive from us. Please allow up to 10 Business Days for the opt-out to take effect. We will provide factual information about your account or the PayPal Services, even if you have opted-out of receiving marketing communications.

If you provide us your mobile phone number, you agree that PayPal and its affiliates may contact you at that number using autodialed or pre-recorded message calls or text messages to: (i) service your PayPal branded accounts, (ii) market PayPal Products and Services, (iii) investigate or prevent fraud, or (iv) collect a debt.

PayPal may communicate with you about your PayPal account and the PayPal Services electronically. You will be considered to have received a communication from us, if it's delivered electronically, 24 hours after the time we post it to our website or email it to you. You will be considered to have received a communication from us, if it's delivered by mail, 3 Business Days after we send it.

Unless you're communicating with us about a matter where we've specified another notice address (for example, our Liability for Unauthorised Transactions and Other Errors, process), written notices to PayPal must be sent by postal mail to: PayPal Payments Private Limited, India, Legal Department, PayPal Payment Private Limited Plot C, IL&FS Financial Centre, 2B, 22, G Block BKC, Bandra East, Mumbai, Maharashtra 400051

You acknowledge and agree that PayPal may share the information provided by you and the terms of the agreement between you and PayPal with the Authorised Dealer Bank/nodal bank in order to enable the Authorised Dealer Bank/nodal bank to conduct the requisite due diligence in accordance with the Authorised Dealer Bank's/nodal bank's Know-your-customer (KYC) obligations.

PayPal's Rights

PayPal suspension and termination rights

PayPal, in its sole discretion, reserves the right to suspend or terminate this user agreement, access to or use of its websites, software, systems (including any networks and servers used to provide any of the PayPal Services) operated by us or on our behalf or some or all of the PayPal Services for any reason and at any time upon notice to you and, upon termination of this user agreement, the payment to you of any unrestricted funds held in your PayPal balance.

Security interest

As security for the performance of your obligations under this user agreement, you grant to PayPal a lien on, and security interest in and to, your PayPal balance in the possession of PayPal.

Amounts owed to PayPal

If your PayPal balance becomes negative for any reason, that negative PayPal balance represents an amount that you owe to PayPal. PayPal may deduct these amounts from funds that are added to your PayPal account later, either by you or from payments you receive. If you have more than one PayPal account, we may set off a negative PayPal balance in one PayPal account against a PayPal balance in your other PayPal account(s). If you continue using your PayPal account when it has a negative balance, you authorise PayPal to combine the negative balance with any debit or transaction sent from your account when that combination is disclosed to you in advance of initiating the debit or transaction.

In addition to the above, if you have a past due amount owed to us, our affiliates, or eBay, PayPal may debit your PayPal account to pay any amounts that are past due. This includes amounts owed by using our various products such as Xoom or Braintree.

Insolvency proceedings

If any proceeding by or against you is commenced under any provision of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, 2016, as amended, modified or replaced from time to time, or under any other bankruptcy or insolvency law for the time being in force, we'll be entitled to recover all reasonable costs or expenses (including reasonable legal fees and expenses) incurred in connection with the enforcement of this user agreement.

Assumption of rights

If PayPal invalidates and reverses a payment that you made to a recipient (either at your initiative or otherwise), you agree that PayPal assumes your rights against the recipient and third parties related to the payment, and may pursue those rights directly or on your behalf, in PayPal's discretion.

No waiver

Our failure to act with respect to a breach of any of your obligations under this user agreement by you or others does not waive our right to act with respect to subsequent or similar breaches.

Indemnification and Limitation of Liability

In this section, we use the term "PayPal" to refer to PayPal Payments Private Ltd., our parent PayPal Holdings, Inc., and our affiliates, and each of their respective directors, officers, employees, agents, joint ventures, service providers and suppliers. Our affiliates include each entity that we control, we are controlled by or we are under common control with.

Indemnification

You must indemnify PayPal for actions related to your PayPal account and your use of the PayPal Services. You agree to defend, indemnify and hold PayPal harmless from any claim or demand (including reasonable legal fees) made or incurred by any third-party due to or arising out of your breach of this user agreement, your improper use of the PayPal Services, your violation of any law or the rights of a third-party and/or the actions or inactions of any third-party to whom you grant permissions to use your PayPal account or access our websites, software, systems (including any networks and servers used to provide any of the PayPal Services) operated by us or on our behalf, or any of the PayPal Services on your behalf.

Limitation of liability

PayPal's liability is limited with respect to your PayPal account and your use of the PayPal Services. In no event shall PayPal be liable for lost profits or any special, incidental or consequential damages (including without limitation damages for loss of data or loss of business) arising out of or in connection with our websites, software, systems (including any networks and servers used to provide any of the PayPal Services) operated by us or on our behalf, any of the PayPal Services, or this user agreement (however arising, including negligence), unless and to the extent prohibited by law. Our liability to you or any third parties in any circumstance is limited to the actual amount of direct damages. In addition, to the extent permitted by applicable law, PayPal is not liable, and you agree not to hold PayPal responsible, for any damages or losses (including, but not limited to, loss of money, goodwill, or reputation, profits, or other intangible losses or any special, indirect, or consequential damages) resulting directly or indirectly from: (1) your use of, or your inability to use, our websites, software, systems (including any networks and servers used to provide any of the PayPal Services) operated by us or on our behalf, or any of the PayPal Services; (2) delays or disruptions in our websites, software, systems (including any networks and servers used to provide any of the PayPal Services) operated by us or on our behalf and any of the PayPal Services; (3) viruses or other malicious software obtained by accessing our websites, software, systems (including any networks and servers used to provide any of the PayPal Services) operated by us or on our behalf or any of the PayPal Services or any website or service linked to our websites, software or any of the PayPal Services; (4) glitches, bugs, errors, or inaccuracies of any kind in our websites, software, systems (including any networks and servers used to provide any of the PayPal Services) operated by us or on our behalf or any of the PayPal Services or in the information and graphics obtained from them; (5) the content, actions, or inactions of third parties; (6) a suspension or other action taken with respect to your PayPal account; or (7) your need to modify your practices, content, or behavior, or your loss of or inability to do business, as a result of changes to this user agreement or PayPal's policies.

Disclaimer of Warranty and Release

No warranty

The PayPal Services are provided "as-is" and without any representation or warranty, whether express, implied or statutory. PayPal specifically disclaims any implied warranties of title, merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose and non-infringement.

PayPal does not have any control over the products or services provided by sellers who accept PayPal as a payment method, and PayPal cannot ensure that a buyer or a seller you are dealing with will actually complete the transaction or is authorised to do so. PayPal does not guarantee continuous, uninterrupted or secure access to any part of the PayPal

Services, and operation of our websites, software, or systems (including any networks and servers used to provide any of the PayPal Services) operated by us or on our behalf may be interfered with by numerous factors outside of our control. PayPal will make reasonable efforts to ensure that requests for electronic debits and credits involving bank accounts, debit cards, credit cards, and check issuances are processed in a timely manner but PayPal makes no representations or warranties regarding the amount of time needed to complete processing because the PayPal Services are dependent upon many factors outside of our control, such as delays in the banking system or mail service. Some states do not allow the disclaimer of implied warranties, so the foregoing disclaimers may not apply to you.

Release of PayPal

If you have a dispute with any other PayPal account holder, you release PayPal from any and all claims, demands and damages (actual and consequential) of every kind and nature, known and unknown, arising out of or in any way connected with such disputes. In entering into this release you expressly waive any protections that would otherwise limit the coverage of this release to include only those claims which you may know or suspect to exist in your favor at the time of agreeing to this release.

Disputes with PayPal

Contact PayPal First

If a dispute arises between you and PayPal, acting as either a buyer or a seller, our goal is to learn about and address your concerns. If we are unable to do so to your satisfaction, we aim to provide you with a neutral and cost effective means of resolving the dispute quickly. Disputes between you and PayPal regarding the services may be reported to PayPal Customer Service or you may contact us at Grievance-India@paypal.com.

Arbitration

For any claim (excluding claims for injunctive or other equitable relief) where the total amount of the award sought is less than ₹700,000 (or other currency equivalents), you may elect to resolve the dispute in a cost-effective manner through binding non-appearance-based arbitration. If you elect arbitration, you will initiate such arbitration through an established alternative dispute resolution ("ADR") provider mutually agreed upon by you and us. The ADR provider and the parties must comply with the following rules: (a) the arbitration shall be conducted by telephone, online and/or be solely based on written submissions, the specific manner shall be chosen by you; (b) the arbitration shall not involve any personal appearance by the parties or witnesses unless otherwise mutually agreed by the parties; and (c) any judgment on the award rendered by the arbitrator may be entered in any court of competent jurisdiction.

Intellectual Property PayPal's trademarks

"PayPal.com," "PayPal.in", "PayPal," "PayPal India" and all logos related to the PayPal Services are either trademarks or registered trademarks of PayPal or PayPal's licensors. You may not copy, imitate, modify or use them without PayPal's prior written consent. In addition, all page headers, custom graphics, button icons, and scripts are service marks, trademarks, and/or trade dress of PayPal. You may not copy, imitate, modify or use them without our prior written consent. You may use HTML logos provided by PayPal for the purpose of directing web traffic to the PayPal Services. You may not alter, modify or change these HTML logos in any way, use them in a manner that mischaracterizes PayPal or the PayPal Services or display them in any manner that implies PayPal's sponsorship or endorsement. All right, title and interest in and to the PayPal websites, any content thereon, the PayPal Services, the technology related to the PayPal Services, and any and all technology and any content created or derived from any of the foregoing is the exclusive property of PayPal and its licensors.

License grants, generally

If you are using PayPal software such as an API, developer's toolkit or other software application, which may include software provided by or integrated with software, systems or services of our service providers, that you have downloaded or otherwise accessed through a web or mobile platform, then PayPal grants you a revocable, non-exclusive, non-sublicensable, non-transferable, royalty-free limited license to access and/or use PayPal's software in accordance with the documentation accompanying such software. This license grant applies to the software and all updates, upgrades, new versions and replacement software. You may not rent, lease or otherwise transfer your rights in the software to a third-party. You must comply with the implementation, access and use requirements contained in all documentation accompanying the PayPal Services. If you do not comply with implementation, access and use requirements you will be liable for all resulting damages suffered by you, PayPal and third parties. PayPal may update or discontinue any software upon notice to you. While PayPal may have (1) integrated certain third-party materials and technology into any web or other application, including its software, and/or (2) accessed and used certain third-party materials and technology to facilitate providing you with the PayPal Services, you have not been granted and do not otherwise retain any rights in or to any such third-party materials. You agree not to modify, alter, tamper with, repair, copy, reproduce, adapt, distribute, display, publish, reverse engineer, translate, disassemble, decompile or otherwise attempt to create any source code that is derived from the software or any third-party materials or technology, or otherwise create any derivative works from any of the software or third-party materials or technology. You acknowledge that all rights, title and interest to PayPal's software are owned by PayPal and any third-party materials integrated therein are owned by PayPal's third-party service providers. Any other third-party software application you use on the PayPal websites is subject to the license you agreed to with the third-party that provides you with this software. You acknowledge that PayPal does not own, control nor have any responsibility or liability for any such third-party software application you elect to use on any of our websites, software and/or in connection with the PayPal Services.

License grant from you to PayPal; intellectual property warranties

PayPal does not claim ownership of the content that you provide, upload, submit or send to PayPal. Nor does PayPal claim ownership of the content you host on third-party websites or applications that use PayPal Services to provide payments services related to your content. Subject to the next paragraph, when you provide content to PayPal or post content using PayPal Services, you grant PayPal (and parties that we work with) a non-exclusive, irrevocable, royalty-free, transferable, and worldwide license to use your content and associated intellectual property and publicity rights to help us improve, operate and promote our current services and develop new ones. PayPal will not compensate you for any of your content. You acknowledge that PayPal's use of your content will not infringe any intellectual property or publicity rights. Further, you acknowledge and warrant that you own or otherwise control all of the rights of the content you provide, and you agree to waive your moral rights and promise not to assert such rights against PayPal.

License grant from sellers to PayPal

Notwithstanding the provisions of the prior paragraph, if you are a seller using the PayPal Services to accept payments for goods and services, you hereby grant PayPal and its affiliates a worldwide, non-exclusive, transferable, sublicensable (through multiple tiers), and royalty-free, fully paid-up, right to use and display publicly, during the term of this user agreement, your trademark(s) (including but not limited to registered and unregistered trademarks, trade names, service marks, logos, domain names and other designations owned, licensed to or used by you) for the purpose of (1) identifying you as a merchant that accepts a PayPal service as a payment form, and (2) any other use to which you specifically consent.

This Agreement is governed by the laws of India. In the event of a dispute, the courts in Mumbai shall have jurisdiction.

Identity authentication

You authorise PayPal, directly or through third parties, to make any inquiries we consider necessary to verify your identity. This may include:

- asking you for further information, such as your date of birth, your physical address and other information that will allow us to reasonably identify you
- requiring you to take steps to confirm ownership of your email address or financial instruments
- subject to applicable law, ordering a credit report from a credit reporting agency or verifying your information against third-party databases or through other sources.
- requiring you to provide your driver's license or other identifying documents, including copies of your passport; permanent account number card; voter's identification card issued by the Election Commission of India; job card issued by MGNREGA, duly signed by an officer of the government; proof of possession of Aadhaar number; letter issued by the National Population Register, containing details of name and address) we consider acceptable.

Anti-money laundering and counter-terrorism financing laws may require that PayPal verify certain identifying information if you use certain PayPal Services. PayPal reserves the right to close, suspend, or limit access to your PayPal account and/or the PayPal Services in the event that, after reasonable enquiries, we are unable to obtain information about you required to verify your identity.

Privacy

Protecting your privacy is very important to us. Please review our Privacy Statement in order to better understand our commitment to maintaining your privacy, as well as our use and disclosure of your information.

Your use of information; Data protection laws

If you receive information about another PayPal customer, you must keep the information confidential and only use it in connection with the PayPal Services. You may not disclose or distribute any information about PayPal users to a third-party or use the information for marketing purposes unless you receive that user's express consent to do so. You may not send unsolicited emails to a PayPal customer or use the PayPal Services to collect payments for sending, or assist in sending, unsolicited emails to third parties.

To the extent that you (as a seller) process any personal data about a PayPal customer pursuant to this agreement, you agree to comply with the requirements of any applicable privacy and data protection laws. You have your own, independently determined privacy policy, notices and procedures for any such personal data that you hold as a data controller, including a record of your activities related to processing of personal data under this agreement.

The privacy and data protection laws that may apply include any associated regulations, regulatory requirements and codes of practice applicable to the provision of the services described in this agreement, including the Information Technology Act 2000. For example, if you or your business is subject to the requirements of the General Data Protection Regulation (EU) 2016/679 (GDPR), you will comply with such regulation with respect to the processing of personal data.

In complying with such laws, you will:

- implement and maintain all appropriate security measures for the processing of personal data; and
- not knowingly do anything or permit anything to be done which might lead to a breach of any privacy and data protection laws by PayPal.

Where a currency conversion is required, it will be completed at the transaction exchange rate we set for the relevant currency exchange. The transaction exchange rate is adjusted regularly and includes a Currency Conversion Fee applied and retained by us on a base exchange rate to form the rate applicable to your conversion. The base exchange rate is based on rates within the wholesale currency markets on the conversion day or the prior business day; or, if required by law or regulation, set at the relevant government reference rate(s). The transaction exchange rate applicable to your conversion may be applied immediately and without notice to you.

The exchange rate referred to in this Agreement is adjusted regularly based on market conditions. The exchange rate is adjusted regularly and may be applied immediately and without notice to you. The exchange rate includes a processing Fee expressed as a percentage above the final exchange rate, and the processing fee is retained by PayPal. You may have the option (depending on the country you are residing in and the type of funding source) to Opt Out of currency conversion before you complete the transaction by selecting Other Conversion options on the Review Your Information page during checkout.

Where a currency conversion is offered by PayPal at the point of sale, you will be shown the exchange rate that will be applied to the transaction before you proceed with authorizing the payment transaction. By proceeding with your authorization of the payment transaction you are agreeing to the currency conversion on the basis of the exchange rate. Where a currency conversion is offered at the point of sale by the Merchant, not by PayPal, and you choose to authorize the payment transaction on the basis of the Merchant's exchange rate and charges, PayPal has no liability to you for that currency conversion.

Where your payment is funded by a Debit or Credit Card and involves a currency conversion by PayPal, you consent to and authorize PayPal to convert the currency in place of your Credit or Debit card issuer.

5. Personal Payments Fee

a. Refund Fee

Activity	Fee
Refunding a Commercial Payment	If you refund a payment for goods or services (partially or fully), there are no fees to make the refund, but the fees you originally paid as the seller will not be returned to you. The amount of the refunded payment will be deducted from your PayPal account.

b. Bank/Credit Card Fees. Your bank, credit or debit card company may charge you fees for sending or receiving funds through PayPal. For example, you may be charged currency conversion processing fees, international transactions fees, or other fees even when your transaction is domestic, and does not require a currency conversion. PayPal is not liable for any fees charged to you by your bank, credit or debit card company or other financial institution based on your usage of PayPal.

All Fees shall be subject to, and are exclusive of Indian Goods and Service Tax [which shall be recovered over and above the agreed Fees] and other applicable taxes pursuant to Indian Tax Legislation. Please see the Taxes and information reporting section for additional information.
